For Parents/Guardians

We understand that according to the Education Act 1989, Section 72a, Board of Trustees can make the wearing of a school uniform compulsory. The Act provides that the Board of Trustees can make any bylaw it thinks necessary or desirable for the control and management of the school. Requiring a compulsory uniform and code of presentation is a bylaw or rule. Failure to comply on a daily basis will be constituted as 'continual disobedience' which, under the 'Guidelines for Principals and Boards of Trustees on Stand-downs, Suspensions, Exclusions and Expulsions' June 2003, presents as grounds for suspension.

I have read the handbook with particular respect to the 'parent commitment' section, the expectations for standards of behaviour and the 'code of personal presentation' (uniform requirements). I understand the intent and terms of this contract and I will do all I can to assist my son/daughter to uphold them.
